READY FOR THE OPENING OF ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL

Handsome New Building is Practically Completed and Will be in Readiness for Pupils to Commence Studies on Monday Morning Next—Rapid Construction by Verville Bros.

The St. Joseph's school, remodeled and enlarged and practically a new building from cellar to cupola, will resume sessions on Monday morning next. The building is now practically completed, all that remains to be attended to being some of the interior finishing in the older portion of the building, and the cleaning up of the halls and premises. It is expected that about three hundred children will be in attendance, ready to begin their studies after their lengthy vacation. There are eight large class rooms and seven teachers, Sisters of St. Joseph, will be in charge, under the direction of Sister Wilfrid.

The building is a most handsome structure, with a frontage on Quincy street of 86 feet. It is of brick veneer and plaster, with stone basement, and was erected by Verville Brothers of this city, who had the general contract. The heating which is furnished by a large steam boiler made by the American Radiator company, was installed by James Sullivan; E. A. Hamilton did the plumbing and the painting and decorating is in the hands of J. C. Donahue. The school is lighted by electricity throughout, the electrical installation being the work of Hall Bros. of Houghton. The interior woodwork is all of white pine, with natural finish and presents a light and attractive appearance.

The older portion of the building, erected in 1888, has been remodeled, new woodwork and flooring and stairways put in, and the plastering renewed where required. The walls are being given a muree finish and when this is completed the place will be ready for occupancy by the sisters, who will use the rear portion of the building as their living rooms, also as music room, chapel, etc.

The plans for the building were made by Architect H. T. Liebert and the total cost of the completed structure is $15,000. Verville Brothers have made rapid time in its construction, the ground for the basement having been broken on July 12 last, so that it has required only about two months and a half for its completion.

The building is entered from Quincy street through a large doorway framed with red sand stone, above which is the name of the school and the year 1869. The basement is fitted with laundry, boiler and fuel rooms, play-rooms for boys and for girls and also toilet rooms for boys and girls, a partition separating the two. Fire hose is provided on each floor and fire escapes lead from the rear of each room in the back part of the building, so that the structure can be quickly emptied in an emergency.

A feature of the building is the large assembly hall extending the entire width of the building, occupying the greater part of the third floor. This room is 85 by 26 feet in dimensions and is well lighted and ventilated. A large stage is to be erected at one end, and opening from it are dressing rooms, a small kitchen to be used when the societies connected with the church desire to serve supper in connection with meetings or entertainments. There is also a ticket office and a cloak room, affording every facility for holding concerts and various parish meetings.

The formal dedication of the building will not take place until the enlargement of the church is finished, which, if the work is done with the same speed as the construction of the school, will be about the middle of October. Then the two new structures will be dedicated with impressive and interesting ceremonies, by Rt. Rev. Bishop Frederick Els, bishop of the diocese.

Bill McKinnon is in Boston looking for a clash with Dan Sullivan, the young brother of the Cambridge twin. Jimmy Britt has signed to meet Edolph Unholz in Australia, the bout to take place next month.

MANAGER BEN GETTMAN
BECOMES A BENEDICT

Ben Gettman, the popular manager of the Savoy moving picture theater in the Germania hall building, is now a benedict, having joined the ranks of the married men yesterday. Mr. Gettman's bride is Miss Lottie Fisher, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Fisher of Rock Island, Ill., who has been visiting here for some time past. The ceremony was performed by Justice C. O. Olivier at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Max Fisher of this city and Mr. Gettman's brother, E. D. Gettman, of Milwaukee. Only a few of Mr. Gettman's many friends were aware of his marriage last evening and when he was seen at his theater superintending the big benefit performance for St. Joseph's church, few dreamed that only a few hours before he had figured as one of the principals of a wedding.

AUDIENCE WAS SPELLBOUND.

The great audience that filled Kerodger theater last evening was literally held spellbound during the intense first scene of "The Great Divide," presented by Henry Miller's company. With such deep earnestness and close attention did the audience follow the actions of Ruth, as impersonated by Miss Mabel Brownell, in her encounter with the ruffians and her meeting with Steve Ghent, that there was not even the rustle of a program to interrupt until the curtain falls as the woman is led away after one of the strangest scenes of the kind ever seen on the local stage. Then the applause broke loose and showed the appreciation of the fine work done by Miss Brownell and Edwin Mordant.

Another cause of spontaneous applause was the setting of the second scene showing the camp of Ghent and his strangely won wife on the summit of a peak in the Rockies, which was a most realistic piece of stagecraft. The two principals and the straightening out of their peculiar relations, hold the center of the stage throughout, although their supporting company was an excellent one and did their parts well. Miss Brownell showed the possession of temperament and marked ability in portraying the role of Ruth, with her morbid New England conscience, who maintains an attitude of misery throughout and does not change her strange mental viewpoint until the final moment, when the play ends with Ruth and her husband reconciled and clasped in each other's arms.

"A FIGHTING SAINT."

Rev. Gould to Speak on Life of General Charles Gordon.

At the Congregational church tomorrow morning the pastor, Rev. J. S. Gould will make an address biographical of General Charles George Gordon, the famous English general who lost his life in the Sudan in an attempt to suppress the Mahdist rebellion in 1885. He was generally known as "Chinese" Gordon which name was given him because of his activity in putting down the Taping rebellion in China, prior to his departure for Egypt. The address should prove a most interesting and instructive one. In the evening Mr. Gould will give the first of his series of Sunday evening talks on New Testament Undesirables, the subject of tomorrow evening's address being, "Herod, the Tyrant."

PLANS FOR COLUMBUS DAY.

Committee of Knights of Columbus Makes Further Arrangements.

The entertainment committee of the Hancock Council of the Knights of Columbus met last evening to discuss arrangements for the observance of Landing Day on October 12. The committee was unable to make a final report on the program for the public entertainment to be given in the evening of October 12 at Germania hall, there being one or two prospective speakers whose consent to appear has not yet been received. The Calumet & Hecla orchestra has been engaged to provide music for the entertainment and for the dancing which will follow, and the Maennerchor Lyra of Hancock will be among the features of the program.

LECTURED ON ALASKA.

The lecture given yesterday at the high school by Colonel C. H. French, on "Alaska and the Klondike" were well attended and proved of a most interesting and instructive nature. The descriptions of scenic and natural wonders, the marvelous and almost unlimited resources of its forests and mines, and accounts of its explorers and history made the lecture of much value to the pupils and of general interest to all. The slides shown were all made from photographs taken by government experts and gave a thorough and complete understanding of the picturesque and progress of the Alaskan territory.

A SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT.

The entertainment given last evening at the Savoy theater for the benefit of St. Joseph's parish was a tremendous success, the little theater being completely packed at each of the three performances given, of which the entire proceeds will be turned over by Manager Gettman to be applied on the improvements that are being made to the St. Joseph's church property.

IS FINED FOR LARCENY.

Tony Rosinski Pleads Guilty to Charge in Justice Armit's Court.

Tony Rosinski was brought before Justice Armit yesterday, charged with the larceny of $20 from Anton Gach. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. In addition the defendant had to return the $20 that he is alleged to have pilfered. Gach told the court that he was in the Chop Suey restaurant on Sixth street, Red Jacket, in company with Rosinski on the evening of September 23. He said that after throwing a handful of bills and some silver on the table to pay for the supper he told Rosinski to take a dollar to square the account. When he gathered in his money he said he found he was shy $20. Gach did not swear out a warrant until yesterday, and within two hours Officer Willis had located his man, and the case was completed on the payment of the fine and the refunding of the money.

PRETTY DANCING PARTY.

The dancing party given by the clerks of the Vortic Bros. department store at the Calumet Light Guard armory last evening proved a very pleasant gathering. The hall was prettily decorated, autumn leaves being used with a pleasing effect. Music for dancing was rendered by the C. & H. orchestra, and the program proved very enjoyable. The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to charity.

Early in the season owner Murphy said that his Chicago Cubs would win the pennant without the services of Johnny Kling. We don't know anything about it. We only repeat what he said at that time.

CURRENT GOSSIP OF THE COPPERS

Lake property. This company now has a treasury balance of $40,000 derived from the sale of 26,000 shares of stock at $2 per share. This money will not only prove sufficient for the drilling campaign, but also will provide funds for actual mining operations. The drill is now down about 200 feet. The overburden was comparatively light. South Lake will search primarily for the new famous Lake lode. It will also cut the three new Adventure lodes. The company owns 360 acres of land lying directly south of the Lake and adjoining the Adventure on the north. About half of its acreage is admirably situated. There are now 69,909 shares of the stock outstanding.

NORTH LAKE—

Diamond drilling at the North Lake has not been attended by as satisfactory results as might have been expected. The heavy overburden encountered has made the progress of work rather slow. It was hoped that results would be obtained by this time of such a nature as to make possible the sinking of a shaft this fall. This is very improbable, though, and diamond drilling will probably continue for the greater part off the winter. North Lake has yet to cut the Lake lode.

ALOUZ—

There are now 36 drills being actuated at the Alouez in both of its shafts. The ground being opened at No. 2 shaft is proving very rich. This shaft has completed the turn and is now being sunk on an angle equal to that of the Kearsarge lode. Shipments from No. 2 shaft will from now on gradually increase until they equal those from No. 1 shaft. Alouez when it is in shape to ship from both shafts should have but little difficulty in getting 20 pounds of magnet copper to the ton of rock stamped. Great faith has been centered in No. 2 shaft and from present indications this has not been misplaced.

OJIBWAY—

Sinking No. 2 shaft of the Ojibway is progressing very rapidly, and it is hoped to be down to a depth of 1,250 feet by the middle of the present month, when the flat will be cut and a crosscut started for the lode. This will be as far as the company will sink for the present. No. 1 shaft will be carried down to the same depth when the two shafts will be connected up by drifts. At the 900-foot level the lateral work from both shafts is being pushed quite vigorously and the results attained to date have been satisfactory in every respect.

NORTH BUTTE—

Favorable reports from North Butte continue to be received. The same sellers a few months ago are now quite openly buying the stock around present prices. Reports indicate that at both the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels the company is getting into a better grade of ore. As soon as drifting is well under way it is believed that even more favorable reports will be received.

Those familiar with conditions in the Butte camp have never for a moment doubted that North Butte would get rich ore in its deeper workings. The High Ore mine opened some of its richest ore at a depth of 2,800 feet. The Anaconda also encountered rich ore in deep mining, while the Parrot became rejuvenated only after getting into a decidedly richer zone around a depth of 3,000 feet.

All the stories of North Butte having seen its best days are idle dreams. The company has a bright future ahead of it, and will be found in the ranks of the dividend payers for many years to come.

CALUMET & MONTANA—

After a reaction of $1.50 Calumet & Montana steadied up and considerable stock was wanted at that figure. The company, so we are informed, is vigorously driving its crosscut through the mountain to the Idaho side and is confident of being able to get good results in a short time. Calumet & Montana has sufficient funds for all of its present needs and is in capable hands so that shareholders can look for favorable news in the near future.

CALUMET & ARIZONA—

The report was given currency yesterday to the effect that the Calumet & Arizona company in continuing its policy of expansion had arranged to enter the Globe camp. This was to be brought about by the acquisition of control of the Howland Smith properties. Efforts to get this report confirmed by local officials of the Calumet & Arizona proved unsuccessful.

The Howland-Smith properties include the Live Oak, Globe Consolidated, Black Warrior and Cordova, the latter holding all the stock in the Eureka. From private sources we learn that engineers who have been known to act for Calumet & Arizona have recently inspected the above mentioned properties, and it is believed that this was for the purpose outlined.

The expansion policy undertaken by the Calumet & Arizona company is undoubtedly one which will be continued and will do much to strengthen the position of this stock. While it is not known whether this Globe deal will be directly for the account of the Calumet & Arizona company, yet such is the way the rumor has it. The story is scooped in some sources for the reason that the best of feeling has not been shown between the two interests of late.

Several directors of the Calumet & Arizona have been in Bisbee during the past week or two looking over developments there. Their trip may have some significance.

In conjunction with the Globe rumor there is already talk of an increase in the quarterly dividend to be declared next November. A disbursement of $1.50 is expected if the copper market maintains the present level of prices. The company is earning about $5 per share on 12 cent copper.

Lateral work at the Oliver shaft is being attended with very satisfactory results.

LAKE SUPERIOR & ARIZONA—

Supt. Fred Hoar, of the Lake Superior & Arizona, arrived in Calumet yesterday to confer with the local directors of the company. Prior to leaving the property Supt. Hoar reports that the crosscut at the bottom level of the Holt shaft tapped a vein and simultaneously a heavy flow of water. He left before the water was under control so was unable to determine the nature of the vein. At this time the water is under control and a wire from the mine is expected at any time now, giving information as to the character of the ground entered.

That sulphides would be encountered in the Holt shaft Supt. Hoar has all along been confident of, and with this discovery of the permanent ore body the future of the property would be almost assured.

This week the rumor was circulated that no further assessments would be necessary and that the Lake Superior & Arizona had arranged for its further financing. This, so the report had it, was to be brought about by interesting certain capitalists. An effort to obtain a confirmation of this story was unsuccessful, though it has not been denied. From a private source we learn that a deal along the lines mentioned above is being considered and the chances point strongly to its successful consummation.

Lake Superior & Arizona is in a strong position. There are now outstanding only about $8,000 shares of stock. The greater portion of this is held by interests who will not part with it at anywhere near present prices. The market of late for the stock has been made solely by small lots. It would take but little aggressive buying to double the present quotations. Local shareholders have always had great confidence in the mine and believe that their patience in holding their stock will be amply rewarded.

SANTA ROSALIA—

The buying of this stock during the past week has been of an exceptional character. Inquiry brings out the statement that news of a very favorable nature is daily expected from the mine. Just along what lines this will be is impossible to state, but we believe that shipments of some of the high grade ore will be made very soon. As Santa Rosalia in the past has shipped ore which has gone considerably better than $1.00 to the ton it is not difficult to guess just what would happen if the company opens up very much of this grade of ore. The progress of developments at the mine have been very rapid. The management is determined to open up a profitable mine as quickly as possible, and judging from the reports to date will succeed.

COPPER RANGE—

There has been some selling of Copper Range by Lake holders during the past few days. This is due partly to the desire to get into a more active issue, and partly to the appreciation of the fact that the exploratory work of the company during the past year or more has not been attended by results of a very gratifying nature. The Battle and Champion both continue to maintain their excellent records as producers, and there is a slight improvement reported at the Tri-mount branch. Those who have been selling Copper Range to buy other stocks have been reinvesting the proceeds in Osceola and Calumet & Arizona.

LA SALLE—

The proposed mill test to be made by La Salle has been postponed for the time being, so we are given to understand. It was originally intended to make this test at the Calumet & Hecla mill this week. The test may be made later in the month.

BUTTE ALEX SCOTT—

There has been heavy buying of Butte Alex Scott, particularly in Duluth, during the past few days, and the stock has advanced as a consequence. We are told that there is a pool, operating in the issue with the intention of putting the price much higher.

ARIZONA & MICHIGAN—

Under date of Sept. 25 President Chynoweth, of the Arizona & Michigan, yesterday received a letter from Supt. Nelson telling of the progress of developments at the Telfair shaft. The south crosscut was in 123 feet and in very hard rock until recently when it became a trifle softer. The north crosscut had been extended 103 feet.

Apparently the vein dips at a more obtuse angle than indicated on surface for the south crosscut should have cut the fault about 100 feet from the shaft. No results in the north workings were expected until the crosscut had gone about 250 feet. The management will continue the recent line of work. The report that the south crosscut had entered the lode and found it barren is vigorously denied as being entirely without foundation.

At the close of business Sept. 30 after paying all expenses Arizona & Michigan had a cash balance of about $50,000, which sum will be ample for its needs for some time to come.

COLUMBUS CONSOLIDATED—

Late last evening we received a wire from our Salt Lake correspondent to the effect that Columbus Consolidated should be sold, and sold quickly. We are without further information on the subject and give our readers this information for what it may be worth.
